CWE FLOW-BASED MARKET COUPLING

Subject: Invitation to participate to the online Public Consultation – until 30th June

Dear Market Participant,

The CWE Flow-Based Market Coupling (FB MC) project partners have worked out a Public Consultation document giving further details about the final design and implementation of the FB MC but also addressing topics on which they are seeking the valued opinion of market parties.

The Public Consultation document is now available on some project partners' websites and within a dedicated section on the CASC website:

<http://www.casc.eu/en/Resource-center/CWE-Flow-Based-MC/Public-Consultation>

The document provides a detailed insight in the Flow-Based methodology by describing the FB capacity domain calculation and also gives more details about the FB parameters publication, fall-back and rollback arrangements, intuitiveness and data publication.

An online survey/consultation is at your disposal in addition to this document, allowing free comments about all topics addressed in the consultation document and asking for your feedback on specific questions for which the CWE FB MC project partners would need your input. We would like to remind you that only comments made via this channel can be officially taken into account by CWE project partners and regulators.

Your feedback on these questions by 30th June 2013 at 00:00 the latest would be very much appreciated. Please use the following link:

Please note that responses on this consultation will be communicated in a non-anonymous way to regulators after consolidation. Market participants will be provided with anonymous results.

Best regards,

The CWE FB MC project partners
